

O. INSPECTOR TO ARRIVE IN TONOPAH TODAY

Postoffice Inspector W. G. Swain arrive in Tonopah this morning from Reno. He will at once fire into the case of the unknown who is charged with attempted robbery of the United States postoffice in this city Saturday evening.

Yesterday Postmaster Stewart lived a letter from Mr. Swain in which he stated that the matter should be thoroughly inquired into the arrival of Mr. Swain little be known of the procedure to instituted against him.

The man in custody still refuses to any talking. He seems uninterested and will not express what intentions are.

The apprehension of the man by Mr. Smith and Lindsay might have been the cause of saving at one life.

Assistant Postmaster Swain is in the habit of inspecting postoffice interior each night before retiring.

On Saturday night Mr. Garner was engaged in conversation with some friends and was to quit the company of his friends for the purpose of making a short time after the man had avowed to force an entrance into the building.

Mr. Garner would have gone in through the back door, he done so and had found the man at work, the latter might have seen fit to take the life of the man, else he would have come to Mr. Garner to open the safe.

Postmaster Stewart informs the man that very little money is at any one time in the office; that a hold-up would be disappointing to any one who was successful in getting into the safe.

On day all the money in the office the exception of a very few dollars was placed in a vault in one of the local banks.

ELLENDALE CAMP WANTS JAIL FOR ITS PRISONERS

That Ellendale has been police protection at the hands of county commissioners, that wants a jail. Judge Brissell ask the commissioners to furnish a keeping place for transgressors of the law.

The early days of Manhattan was no building in which to law-breakers. But Manhattan plenty of trees and one that in the center of Main street heart of business activity was a tree, while the crowd dined itself joshing the victim.

Man arrested on a charge of drunkenness was one night allowed to sleep for several hours. He never the experience, swearing that he would get drunk again he would copy that particular jail. Sure he kept his word. A few days after he got on "a tear," and he aid of an ax purchased for a reason, he cut the tree down.

Another warm day. Yesterday was the warmest day of the year, the thermometer registered 95 degrees. One year ago on the date the heat was measured 75 degrees. The weather man says warm weather will continue. Nights are exceedingly pleasant.

ELLEFORDS WILL CLOSE TONIGHT IN THIS CITY

Those who did not attend the performance of the Ellefords last night missed the treat of the season for a funnier or more pleasing entertainment has never been given in Tonopah. It can be described as one long laugh with the company doing some of their best work of the season.

Too much praise can not be given the Elleford company for their conscientious work at all times for no matter whether the audience has been large or small the same careful attention has been given to each and every play, which is not the case with all companies as they are inclined to shirk and give when the audience is not up to their expectations, but not so with the company under W. J. Elleford's banner.

There were pleasing specialties by Miss Luce and the Osborn children.

At the performance to night which will be the last of the engagement we would like to see the house crowded so as to show Manager Elleford that the theatergoers of Tonopah appreciate a first-class production at popular prices.

The play selected for tonight is Ernest Lamson's rural comedy drama, "From Farm to Factory," a play in four acts that are brimful of comedy and heart interest.

The story tells of a young boy who has promised to look after his sister at the request of his dead mother. He nobly fulfills his trust. The first act shows the old farm, the second the interior of the farm house. The third act represents the factory and the last the young man's reward.

The Osborn children will present one of their best and newest turns. Don't miss this performance.

Yesterday articles of incorporation of the Manhattan-China Mining company were filed with the County Clerk Pohl.

The company is capitalized for 5000 shares of the par value of $1 per share. The incorporators are C. E. Mayne, C. C. Moorehouse, et al. It is proposed to operate certain mining property in the Manhattan district and although the capitalization is rather small, it is believed that with a small expenditure something good will be opened up.

Nye county's representation in the state prison, or at least a part of it, is tired of the hospitality of Warden Maxwell. Those who have been there for various lengths of time do not feel like it would be in keeping with good manners and polite etiquette to depart of their own accord, leaving a note behind to the officials asking "pardon for the liberties they are taking." Consequently they will go through the form of asking the board of pardons to grant them a respite from their duties as wards of the state. Those who want to shake the dust of Carson from their feet are as follows:

P. J. Murphy, burglary. Wants a pardon.

Thomas Madden, burglary. Seeks pardon. Sentenced to seven years.

P. W. Bennett, grand larceny. Asks parole.

W. Niblets, selling whisky to Indians. Sentenced to one and one-half years. Wants restoration to citizenship.

John Soutle, grand larceny. Wants to be paroled.

ELLENDALE'S FIRST OFFICIALS TAKE OFFICIAL OATH

Yesterday Judge J. P. Brissell and Charles Kielhofer, the newly appointed justice of the peace and constable of Ellendale respectively, took the oath of office and filed their bonds. In addition to filling the office of constable, Mr. Kielhofer will undoubtedly receive the additional honor of receiving the appointment of deputy sheriff. Both gentlemen will leave for the scene of their labors in a day or so.
